Scope of Work

Lackawaxen will install and configure a wi-fi wireless network at the customer location. This service includes a wireless router, unless the customer provides their own equipment, configuration of the router, and configuration of up to three wi-fi equipped computers to have access to the wireless network. This service does not include the installation of wi-fi equipment in customer computers, configuration of other networked devices such as printers or scanners, nor does it include subsequent configuration of additional or replacement computers at a later time.

Requirements

This service is only provided in conjunction with Lackawaxen's DSL Broadband Internet Access Service. The customer is responsible for providing wireless access equipment in each of the computers that will be installed on the network. Each computer that is to have access to the network must meet or exceed the minimum requirements necessary to work with Lackawaxen's broadband Internet service. Wi-Fi signal coverage is subject to a number of factors including, but not limited to, location of the wireless router, physical distance between the router and the wireless workstation, type of building construction, interference from other wireless technologies, atmospheric conditions, and other uncontrollable factors. Lackawaxen Telecommunications is not responsible for the service coverage of the Wi-Fi signal.

The following charge applies to the Wi-Fi Installation Service. This is a one-time installation charge that will appear on your next monthly telephone bill. There is no monthly recurring charge associated with the Wi-Fi Installation Service. A $3.00 per month DSL modem fee does apply if the service is not on a contract.
